

ABSTRACT

The insertion of a growth factor in the body of a human patient is used to treat 5 arthritis. A reduction of inflammation occurs; and in the avascular necrosis type of arthritis, blood vessels and/or bone are grown at the joint to provide correction thereof.